The Daily Seuss

Ending on a High Note

Burgers, fries, and a good ole root beer float tasted mighty fine after another hot day in the water. Kampers and counselors all got into the spirit of the 50's as poodle skirts and slicked back hair were seen all through kamp. The dance was a-jumpin' as oldies and chart toppers filled the air. The campfire entrance was lined with luminary bags that glowed as the sun faded into the lake. The memorable campfire touched our hearts as kampers shared their wishes and set their friendship sticks ablaze. The late-night party kept this reporter up for hours.

Trivia Answer: 140 hours.
Clint has spent almost 6 days in a tattoo chair.

Lots o' Locks for Love
Props to 3 girls who donated their hair this week and for looking awesome in their new do's. #heygoodlookin
