

The outhous

Tweeter Feed

Out of socks, when Jack G. was questioned why he can't just wear the ones sticking of his bag... "my mom won't let me wear new clothes until she washes them. #donttellmom #webreakmomsrulesatkamp

Organically an arm-wrestling tournament and then a game of "question ball" broke out before Dr. K's talk. #kacefriends #thingsthatdonthappenathome

Garrett's glasses were clean and safely returned after spending a few minutes in the foam. #phev #squeakyclean #myhero

A cabin that searches for missing glasses screws together stays together. #someonesgot ascREWLOOSE #itswill

Sometimes a skit needs to involve the entire kamp and no punchline. #ponchos #youhadonejob

45-year-olds should know that they aren't able to be a high-jump any more. #beastie #bruisesfordays #spinygame

There is a moose on the loose and we are hoping we don't end up eating him for supper. #DoMoose #Wheredidhego

The mythical game of 4-way captures the flag collapsed upon itself. #norules #chaos #annarchy #neutralzones?

See Kampers playing Feeling Hot Hot Hot

The day started out as any other with a massive decline of polar bears. Investigators are still looking into the cause but believe it has to do with the cold water. Breakfast was a delicious spread of Belgian waffles and sausage patties. Sessions followed shortly after breakfast. The weather was beautiful, and the campers were extra sweaty and smelly because of it. Lunch was a favorite of campers, tacos in a bag.

Rest followed which also had Dr. Kabrinski talking about cancer. More sessions started after lunch which was also followed by the fish fry cooked by the lions who made another appearance. Everyone had a great time eating all the fish they caught yesterday. After sessions the campers participated in a war with four sides, capture the flag including purple, orange, green, and blue. For the evening, some of the cabins left for their cabins while the other did skits and songs around the campfire.

"I have everything I need for the campout... bug repellent, tick repellent, and girl repellent"

- Sam Cabin C

Secret Ninja Strikes Melissa

Upon returning from lunch on Wednesday, Melissa noticed that her golf cart had been attacked by a Secret Ninja. Pictures had been plastered all over her cart and left no clue as to the ninja's secret identity. Sources say that the golf cart can be controlled by an invisible remote. Melissa is a bit concerned that the ninja now has a secret power over her golf cart and will drive her into the lake. #myles

New Species Discovered at Kamp

Cabin 4 seems to be at the center of the new species that keep turning up in the dining hall every morning. So far, they have been visiting by smiling cuties, mini marshmallow men, and the gelatin swimming banana dolphin. All species seems to be endangered as there have been only 10 of each, plus they never last through breakfast. It is unknown if any more will turn up throughout the week.

